URINETOWN, THE MUSICAL

By Mark Hollmann and Greg Kotis

This fall we're producing another Best Book and Score Tony Award winner: Urinetown, the Musical. This very funny, irreverent and clever show has it all: villains and henchmen, heroes and heroines, romance and revolution, people like you and me and great music.

It is set in a time when water is worth its weight in gold and social irresponsibility and corporate mismanagement are rampant. All of this is wrapped up in a unique and incredibly hilarious package. Oh.....and there is that intriguing title.

ANATOMY OF GRAY

By Jim Leonard

The award-winning author of The Diviners, And They Dance Real Slow in Jackson, and Crow and Weasel describes Anatomy of Gray as "A children's story for adults." It is a magical fable that cleverly balances comedy and tragedy, the mundane and the sublime. Set in heartland America during the late 19th century, Anatomy of Gray is a coming-of-age story that explores the intersections of science, faith, love, loss and hope. When young June's father dies, she prays for a healer to come to her small Indiana town so that no one will suffer again. Are her prayers answered when, the next day, a man in a balloon blows into Gray and professes to be a doctor? It seems they are, until a mysterious illness starts claiming more lives. It's a very funny play, but at the same time, there are going to be some moments that might break your heart as well.
